LINHA
VERMELHA

The first ever action camp in Portugal will take place this summer in the Leiria district, in Bajouca, where a new gas drill is planned for 2019.

What is fossil gas?

The so-called “natural gas” is as natural as any other gas (or, any other substance found on earth). What is essential is that it is a fossil fuel. Its extraction contaminates aquifers, harms agriculture, and uses an extreme amount of water. Energy production by gas feeds the climate crisis that is threatening humanity as a whole.

What is an action camp?

There will be whole program of trainings, workshops, concerts and talks where we share skills and experiences with each other.

What is climate justice?

The countries and peoples most affected by the climate crisis are the ones that had the least responsibility for it. And a mere 90 companies are responsible for more than two thirds of the CO₂ emissions. These companies are making profit out of the perpetuated suffering of ordinary people. Ours is a fight for survival as well as a fight for social justice.

At the end of the camp, there will be a mass action against the gas project.

Everyone is welcome, especially if you've never been involved in anything like this before.. We will have all kinds of training you may need.

Join us at Camp-in-Gás and let's build a future for all.

Registrations will be open on May 20th.
